If you're interested in discovering whether history repeats itself, better set out right now to develop an eye technique.

Eyes play an important part in writing romantic moonlight melodies—if they're properly made up.

Right Way

In applying eye shadow, use it on the upper lid only, blending lightly, ever so delicately, to create a smooth, even colour tone from the eyelash to the eyebrow.

Use an eyebrow pencil to outline and define the shape of the brows, but do not overdo this so that it becomes obvious. This done, create a lustrous sheen for your eyelashes by applying mascara—brushed upwards on the upper lashes, downward on the lower lashes.

MOSCOW, CITY OF TERROR

WRETCHED LIVES OF MILLIONS

UNCERTAIN FUTURE

By F. W. MEMORY

Drab, dilapidated, sombre Moscow broods on the banks of Moscow river, dead to its past glories, fearful of its uncertain future.

Once the magnificent capital of the proud Czars of Muscovy, it has become a harridan among the cities of the world—bedraggled, ugly, unkempt, defiant, as it were, of the civilisation and culture of Western Europe.

These are hard words and will stir to wrath the Commissars of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics—the men who in their mad lust for power have brought about this sorry state of affairs.

More than 3,000,000 people exist—do not live as we know life in England—in Moscow, and there is hardly one who dare call his soul his own. Independent thought, independent action is no longer the right of any person under Communist rule; lips must be padlocked for fear the tongue should give utterance to words which may lead to Siberia—or worse.

There is no joy in the streets of this sombre city. Even the spring sun casts forbidding shadows, and men and women shabbily, even uncouthly, dressed, hurry about their business and vanish into those rabbit warrens they call home.

Home—that is a word which one imagines has no meaning for the vast bulk of Moscow's population. They have somewhere to sleep, but they share such accommodation as there is, almost their beds, with half a dozen other people. Only some of the chosen few, big men of the Communist Party, Commissars and the like, have decent living quarters; some of them have not only what passes for luxury accommodation in the city itself but country houses too.

NO PRIVACY

For the worker there are no comfortable little houses with jolly little gardens such as we have in England; they must live and die where they can. There is no privacy for anyone.

That perhaps is why in Moscow everyone appears so sullen; they dare not talk, they dare hardly think; for no one knows which of his neighbours is a spy who will betray him to those who sit in authority, eager to judge and to condemn. There is no chatter as people walk abroad; in cafes and restaurants, of which, curiously enough, there are a certain number, they talk heads together, in low voices, like conspirators planning some dark and terrible deed, fearful lest what they have to say to each other may be overheard.

Gay laughter, such as one is used to in the streets of an English city is rarely heard in Moscow. Another sound takes its place; the tramp, tramp of the soldiers of the dreaded OGPU—the political police—as they clatter over the cobblestones about their mysterious business. No one knows where they are going or whom they seek; as they come down the street there is fear in the eyes of men and women, and little children hide behind the ragged skirts of their mothers.

It is at night that these men are generally abroad, the dim lights enhancing the terror of their purpose.

Just now they are particularly active for there is sitting and plotting in the Kremlin a man who has read "the writing on the wall," Stalin, the Georgian, Dictator of All Russia, is uneasy. He has

Boldly Checked Crepe For Costume

NOVEL FASTENINGS

Boldly checked crepe or heavy linen is the material suggested for this jacket and dress costume. Note the button fastening of the dress, continued to the hem of the skirt, in line with that of the jacket.

MRS. GRACE COOLIDGE BOBS

HER HAIR

MRS. Grace Coolidge, widow of former President Calvin Coolidge, reputed one of the most gracious ladies ever to occupy the White House, has bobbed her hair. The new bob first was noticed when Mrs. Coolidge returned to "The Beeches," the Coolidge home at Northampton, Mass., after spending the winter with friends in the South.

realised that all is not well with the Communist State.

FEARS ATTACKS

He fears attacks from without and within. Germany, he is convinced, is determined to destroy Bolshevism and all he stands for, and he believes that Japan, away in the Far East, is but awaiting an opportunity to attack Red rule in that part of the world. He is certain that these countries will launch simultaneous attacks in the East and West, and he fears that when that happens the people whom he and others of the Communist Party have oppressed with such ferocity will rise against him.

That is why to-day the OGPU is so busy. It is rounding up, not by dozens or scores, but literally by thousands, those who are suspected of not being 100 per cent. Red.

The recent assassination of Stalin's right-hand man, Sergei Kirov, is being made the excuse for these wholesale arrests. Not content with the summary executions which immediately followed this crime—it is said that in Petrograd, where Kirov was shot, and in Moscow at least 200 people were put to death—the OGPU is now alleging that it has unearthed a widespread conspiracy against the State, in which Kirov's death was but an incident, and that the people it is now dragging from their homes are all implicated in this plot.

That is but a paltry excuse for the remorseless terrorism of the Kremlin. These people are being arrested because they are not Communists, because their ancestors were loyal subjects of Imperial Russia, because they themselves prefer to be decent citizens of the

"BRAZEN" BATHERS

UNDRESSING ON OPEN BEACH

COUNCILLOR'S CRITICISM

Criticism of "wholesale dressing and undressing" on Broughty Ferry sands by bathers was made recently by Councillor R. A. Scrymgeour at a meeting of Dundee Corporation Development Committee for Broughty Ferry.

When it was proposed to build a stripping accommodation, Mr. Scrymgeour asked if it was still intended to allow the unrestricted use of the sands for this purpose. Unfortunately, he said, there were apparently thousands of people who did not mind dressing and undressing in public.

Last year the sands were absolutely packed not only with children, but with adults of both sexes, brazenly dressing and undressing in public. They could not have a respectable seaside resort under these conditions.

Mr. D. R. Kidd, in reply, said that people who talked about people stripping on the beach were talking "twaddle." It had been done for generations.

People were getting educated to the fact that the sun's rays were vital. There was nothing wrong about it. The costumes for this season had hardly any material in them at all.

The committee decided to proceed immediately with the construction of a toddlers' pool, the lay out of a garden approach to the beach at the Windmill site, the provision of stripping accommodation at the beach, and the erection of shops at the east end of the esplanade. These will cost £3,450.

world, and because Stalin fears that if he finds himself pitted against the armed might of Germany and Japan, they will rise and overthrow him.

THOUSAND A DAY

In Petrograd and Moscow arrests are being made at the rate of 1,000 a day; already 30,000 persons have been dealt with. Some have been sent to Siberia—others have just disappeared from the ken of their friends. To-day no man or woman is safe in Russia, and many are deserting their homes in the cities and abandoning everything in the hope that somewhere in that vast country they may find an abiding place where the hand of Stalin and his secret police will not reach. It is the last hope of a hopeless people—already foredoomed to failure.

And while this is going on in Russia, Stalin and his associates have been trying to convince the world, and particularly Great Britain, that the Bolsheviks are men of peace. "When the Devil was sick the Devil's saint would be," the Reds are very "sick"—frightened, probably for the first time since they seized power.

In Germany and Japan they see Nemesis overtaking them, and so, with their tongues in their cheeks, they are seeking to humbug Great Britain into believing that they are worthy allies in the sacred cause of European peace. Like the leopard, the Bolsheviks cannot change their spots, and what is more, they have no desire to do so.

What they really want is by specious promises, which they have not the slightest intention of fulfilling, to entangle Great Britain in commitments which may lead to war—a war which they hope will make the British Empire a more fruitful ground for their unswerving purpose of world revolution.

The Red Flag in England and the disruption of King George's Empire is the picture which Stalin, Litvinoff and the rest have ever before them.

THE DECCA PORTROLA

A complete all electric radio-gram in the compass of an ordinary acoustic portable. Something that—until the introduction of this truly remarkable little instrument was considered out of the question. But the seemingly impossible has been accomplished and DECCA—the inventors of the first acoustic portable—now introduce the world's first portable radio-gram.

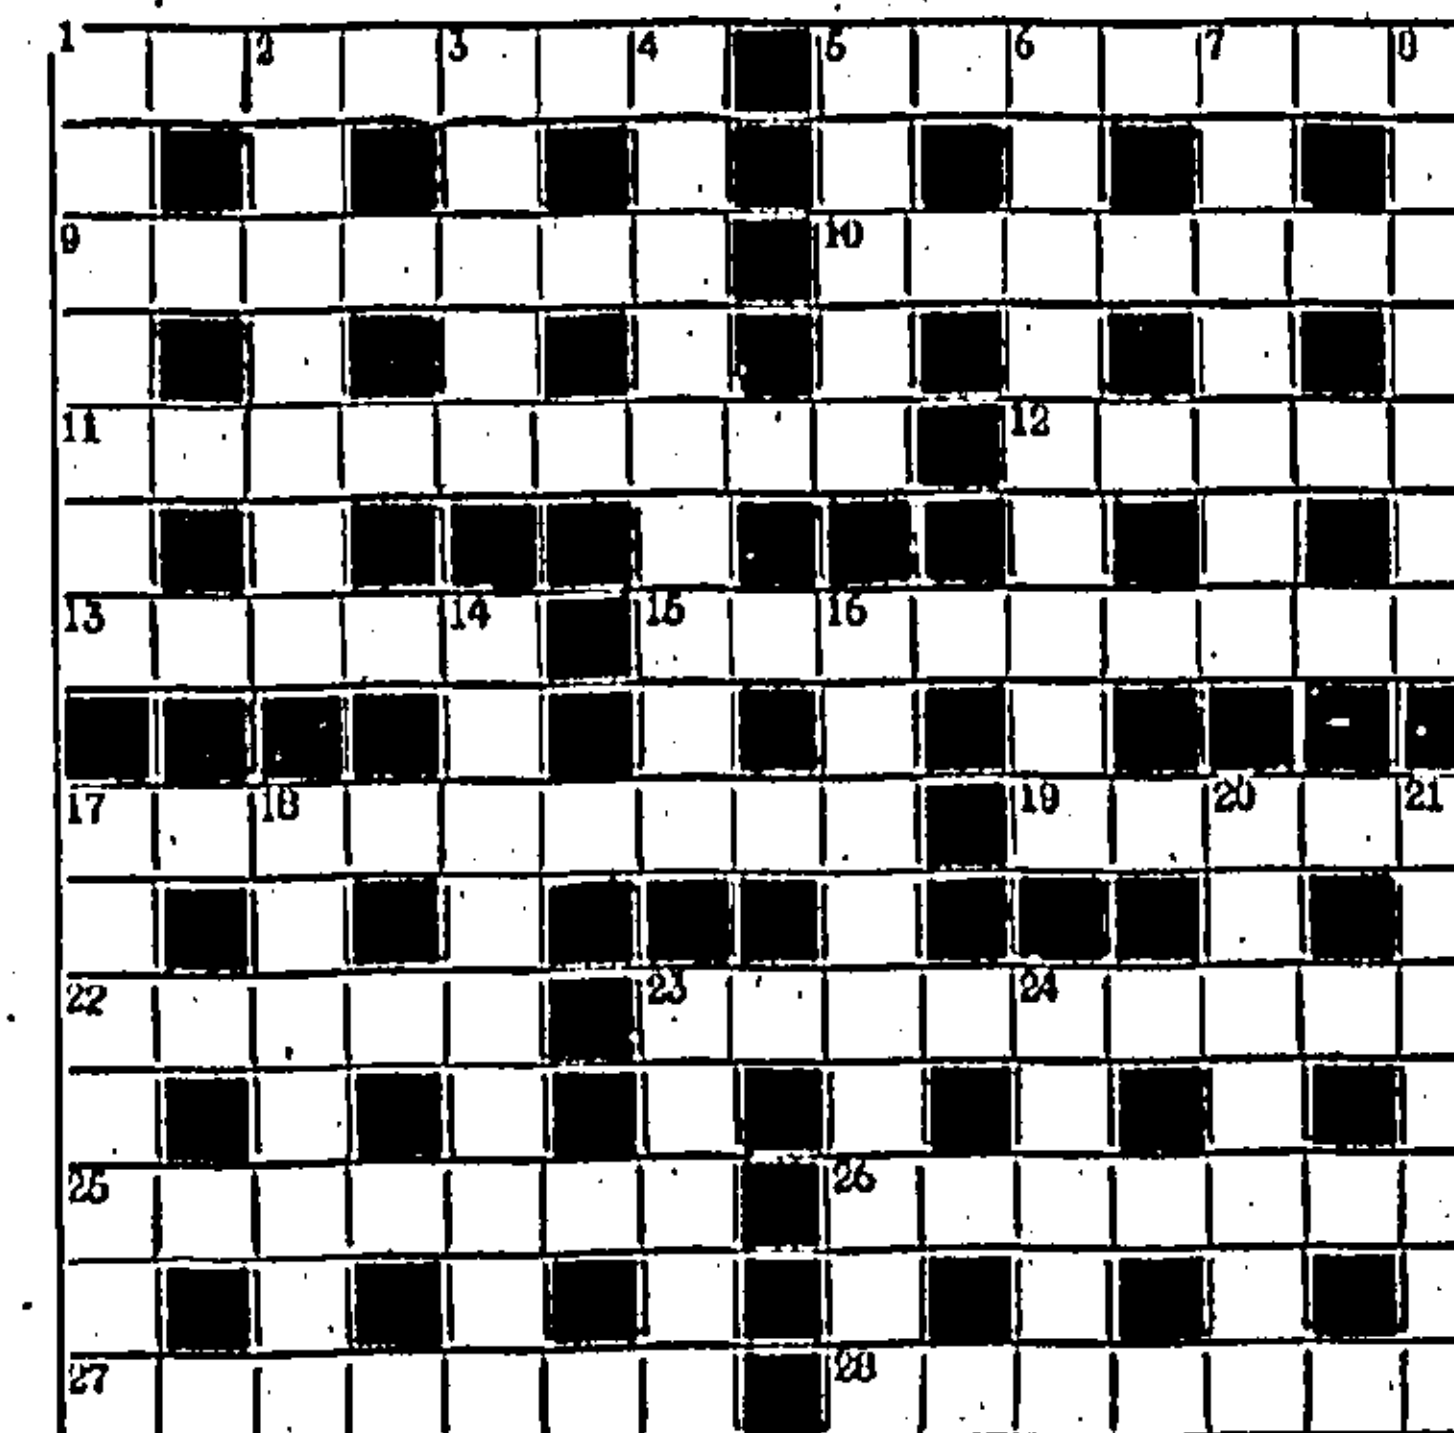

A marvel of ingenuity, the 'Portrola' is distinguished not merely for its portability and novelty, but it really is a highly efficient radio-gram, giving superlative results on radio or records and challenging favourable comparison with most multi-valve receivers.

DEMILITARISED ZONE GUARDS

NEW FORCE SENT BY CHINA

Tientsin, May 11. The provisions of an agreement reached at recent negotiations between the local Chinese and Japanese authorities for the liquidation of the outstanding issues in connection with the demilitarised zone, especially the policing of the zone, were carried into effect yesterday when units of new Public Safety Guards, numbering 4,500, marched into the zone by two routes. They are replacing the old and less efficient Public Safety Guards, who will be withdrawn by the Chinese Government, and disbanded.

The new Public Safety Guards are taking up positions at various points in the Luntung area under the supervision of Messrs. Tao Shang-ming and Yen Yu-kang, Commissioners of the Administration of the demilitarised zone.

JUBILEE FILM

H.K. CELEBRATIONS ON SCREEN

Those who were unable to see the Chinese procession during the Jubilee celebrations in comfort can now do so at the King's Theatre, where a really excellent film of this attractive feature is being shown.

The film, which is easily the best of any local event to be screened, is a lengthy one and depicts the progress of the procession through the streets, as well as the visit to Government House. Amazing evolutions were performed by the silver dragon on the lawn at Government House, and these are splendidly shown in the film, which should on no account be missed. This special feature is being run in conjunction with a novel full-length film, "Night Life of the Gods."

GANGSTER'S END

RAYMOND HAMILTON ELECTROCUTED

New York, May 10. Raymond Hamilton, Public Enemy No. 1 of the United States, has suffered the fate of all criminals who have received the dread title.

Shortly after midnight to-night Hamilton was led from his cell in the death house in Huntsville Penitentiary in Texas, to the electric chair, where he was electrocuted.

He is the first recipient of the title "Public Enemy No. 1" to suffer this fate for years. The others have all suffered violent deaths at the hands of Federal or State authorities.

Hamilton's capture was effected with ridiculous ease. He was picked up at a railway freight yard at Ford Worth by a Sheriff and four deputies. Hamilton, who had boasted that he would never be taken alive, submitted quietly to capture.

Hamilton's death illustrates the fate that is the ultimate end of those who live outside the law.

Throughout the United States he was regarded as the most dangerous of the group of gangsters who have terrorised the Middle West since they have been driven out of the cities.

Death Cheated
He first came into real prominence when, with four companions, he staged a successful getaway from the death cell he occupied until to-day on the day after Dillinger fell, his body riddled with bullets. During the escape Hamilton killed one of the prison guards.

Time and again police thought they had him in their grasp but on each occasion, with dare-devil coolness, he shot his way out of their ambushes.

His brief but eventful career throughout Texas between the time of his escape from the death cell and his re-capture provided crime copy for American newspapers that was equalled only by the exploits of the infamous Dillinger.

Hamilton was electrocuted for the murder of Major Crowson, whom he shot when aiding the notorious Clyde Barrow to escape from Eastham Prison.

"Who aspires to the dreadful title of 'America's Public Enemy No. 1'?" is the question being discussed now that Hamilton's career has definitely ended. The Department of Justice to-day names 6,000 "public enemies" who are still at large throughout the United States.—United Press.

QUEEN MARY HOSPITAL

GOVERNOR LAYS FOUNDATION STONE

"I formally name this building the Queen Mary Hospital in the full confidence and belief that it is destined to afford great benefits not only to many now in Hongkong but to members of future generations still unborn," declared His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel, when he laid the foundation stone of the new Government Civil Hospital at Pokfulam yesterday afternoon, in the presence of a large and distinguished gathering.

The inadequacy and poor surroundings of the existing Government Civil Hospital, which was opened many years ago, was stressed by both His Excellency and the Hon. Dr. W. E. A. Moore, Director of Medical and Sanitary Services, in their speeches.

The new Queen Mary Hospital will have accommodation for 500 patients, which is twice as many as the present Civil Hospital can cater for.

SATURDAY, MAY 11, 1935.

THE VOLUNTEERS

British residents of military age who, for reasons of their own, are not members of the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps, will have a somewhat unique opportunity on May 20 of engaging in a free and frank discussion with Major-General Borrett on points which they may care to raise concerning the organisation of the Corps and the duties which members thereof are called upon to discharge. The chronic grouser will no doubt be as welcome at this informal gathering as the man holding what he considers constructive views on the functions of the Corps and the manner in which these are put into operation. It is, however, mainly to that section of the community typified by the latter individual that His Excellency the G.O.C. addresses his invitation. The whole object of the suggested talk, as we interpret General Borrett's appeal, is to explore every possibility of meeting the wishes of those who, whilst in full sympathy with the Volunteer movement, believe that there are some respects in which it might be made more popular. General Borrett is to be commended for resorting to this rather unusual course, the more so as he indicates that he is prepared to consider any reasonable proposals for making service in the Corps more attractive. It is suggested in the G. O. C.'s communique that the number of Britons between the ages of twenty and forty-five who are outside the Corps compares unfavourably with the statistics relating to the British communities in Shanghai and Singapore. No doubt care has been taken, in reaching this conclusion, to take due account of the respective totals both in regard to population and age-limits. There was a time when the Volunteers in Hongkong numbered at least seven hundred men, quite a good percentage when we bear in mind the fact that the last Census showed the total number of British civilians to be some 3,700, this figure, of course including children and those above military age. At present, the Corps is not nearly so strong as it formerly was; but, at the same time, it would be informative to learn the precise percentage of Britons between the ages named who are included in its ranks. Varying reasons no doubt operate to keep men out of the Corps. One of these, possibly, is the thought that there is not much utility for Volunteers in a big military station with some thousands of men serving under the colours. This, however, is a mistaken view, since the Volunteers have

NOTES OF THE DAY

WHAT ARE LAWS FOR?

"Somebody once said that laws were made to be broken. But he did not mean what he said. Laws, for nations as for men, are the first requisite of peace. Without laws, and the protection they afford, a community of secured happiness and prosperity would be impossible. We have progressed beyond the stage when a strong man and a fearless can be a law unto himself. And the same thing applies to nations. Because a nation has a big and powerful and well-equipped fighting force is no reason why it should be excused for violating the most fundamental of all international codes; that of mutual respect for frontiers. It seems a pity to be continually rapping at Germany's door and making protests and giving warnings, and it seems a pity that such methods as are ordinarily resorted to in diplomacy appear to have so little effect on the new-born Nazi Reich. Within the past few days we have heard of instances of two alleged frontier violations by the German police, the first in Holland, the second in Czechoslovakia. In the first instance Holland, alone, can do very little about insisting upon her sovereign rights and that sort of thing; but in this latter case a frontier violation means something. These people at Prague are big and strong and they have bigger and stronger allies. A note of protest and a demand for redress will not be ignored. The ridiculous part of the situation is that Germany's police should take such measures in the pursuit of a person wanted for political reasons. In the case of an international criminal a frontier violation might be excused, but because a man offends the party in power that party is not justified in stamping over somebody else's back yard in search of the offender. It is particularly objectionable that German police should so over-step the bounds of justice and prudence in the direction of their smaller neighbours, Switzerland and Holland.

MILITANT FOR PEACE

Older, sayer folk probably can offer sound advice about students' anti-war strikes. The strike may be defined as a form of war. The mass emotionalism that impels the anti-war strike may be too nearly that on which propaganda can play for war as well as peace. Strikes too often are taken advantage of by Communists; anti-war strikers thus run the risk of exposing their cause to charge of Communism. The strike through which some 150,000 college students have just declared sentiments of an increasing section of American youth showed to some extent these weaknesses. But on the whole the demonstrations were conducted in a manner that can reflect no great discredit on the anti-war movement. Generally speaking, the student strike was attended by a degree of official tolerance that speaks well for the discretion of educational and law enforcement authorities. Free expression of opinion is not only one of the privileges of democracy but one of its most dependable safeguards. Suppression was attempted in comparatively few instances. Even among critics of this method of expressing peace purposes the call for many of the student meetings must command respect. Prof. Albert Einstein addressed the gathering at Princeton University. Senator James P. Pope spoke to an audience of 300 at Yale. Mr. Norman Thomas and others of note added to the thoughtfulness of the nation-wide demonstration. It still can be said that there are better ways of carrying out the peace ideal than by assuming the defiant attitude of the strike. But anti-war demonstrations should not be out of place in a Christian nation. Rather they should be regularised and should include sober and sincere observance not only of students' antipathy to war but of all the people's desire for continued peace.

been allotted a specific and important role in the defence system of the Colony. Moreover, there are now so many branches of the Corps in existence as to broaden its appeal immeasurably as compared with other days. Taking all the facts into consideration, there is certainly no adequate reason why, in particular, any unmarried Briton in good health, between the ages of twenty and thirty-five, should remain unattached to the Corps. Not only does membership provide ideal opportunities for comradeship, healthy exercise, and interesting work, but it also carries with it the privilege of rendering essential service to the Colony. General Borrett, by his friendly gesture, has now put it up to those who have so far hung back to show cause why they should not join up. He is prepared to take them into his confidence and to discuss matters fully and frankly. His action deserves a generous and sympathetic response.

Our King and Queen on their Silver Jubilee

The King and Queen Enjoying a Sideshow.

Despite the seriousness of the work they had to do, the King and Queen enjoyed a brighter side to life. It was not a case of all work and no play.

Our pictures to-day, for instance, show an informal snapshot of King George and Queen Mary as they set out in a miniature train at Wembley Exposition. It clearly illustrates the fact that the rulers of the Empire were not haughty rulers, not incapable of being "human."

Biographers record many occasions when the King and Queen forgot, seemingly, their position. One such occasion was during the war when the King was visiting the trenches in France. When lunch time came, there were no canteens nearby, and the King ate a box lunch, along with the other members of his staff, standing up, using a flat car as a table.

There are occasions when the Queen, whom one is always told is so formal, relents and forgets that she is a queen and really enjoys herself. One such picture shows her at a table, quite unconscious of the fact that she is waving her fan, keeping time to the music of a children's chorus.

The interest of the entire royal family in the affairs of the people is not just motivated by a sense of duty, but by a real personal interest—they like to take part and be one of the people.

A GENEROUS GIFT TO UNIVERSITY

MR. EU TONG-SEN DONATES A GYMNASIUM

The well-known millionaire from British Malaya, Mr. Eu Tong-sen, has announced his intention of donating the sum of $30,000 for the purpose of erecting a building and equipping it as a gymnasium for the use of students of Hongkong University.

This generous gift will be greatly appreciated. Many of the undergraduates have no doubt had physical culture instruction at school which they are not able to follow up on entering the University, and the gymnasium should fill a long-felt need.

Mr. Eu Tong-sen has for some years identified himself with Hongkong, and has two big houses here, both in the form of castles, one at Repulse Bay and the other at Bonham Road.

COLONEL EAVES RETIRES

TWELVE YEARS IN COLONY

WAR CAREER

There recently left the Colony on retirement, Lt.-Col. F. Eaves, D.S.O., who for the past twelve years has held the appointment of Acting Land Officer. During that period he had also acted temporarily as Land Officer and Registrar in Bankruptcy and Receiver in Bankruptcy and Registrar of Trade Marks and Letters Patent, First Police Magistrate, and Chairman of Boards of Arbitration under the Crown Lands Resumption Ordinances.

Of an unassuming and unconventional nature, Col. Eaves preferred a country life to the social activities of a city, and spent most of his leisure time at "Greystone," Tai Po, the Hon. Mr.

N. L. Smith's charming bungalow across Tolo Harbour. In his early years he was interested in the A.D.C. productions, and played minor parts in "I.U.R." and "St. Joan."

Col. Eaves is very keen on travelling, and, having already visited some 25 different countries, sailed last week on the s.s. Nellore to pay prolonged visits to Australia, Tasmania, Fiji, New Zealand, South Africa, Portugal and Spain, before returning to England.

Col. Eaves' career has not been altogether uneventful. From 1899 to 1902 he served as a gunner in the 10th. Batt. Lancaster R.G.A. (Vols.), and in 1909 was commissioned to the 5th. Bn. The King's Own Royal Lancaster Regt. (T.F.).

On the outbreak of the War, he was practising as a solicitor in Lancaster, and in the following February was in Flanders as a Company Commander in that Battalion under Lt.-Col. Lord Richard Cavendish. On Col. Cavendish becoming a casualty, Col. (then Capt.) Eaves commanded the Battalion at the Battles of Second Ypres, and Loos (1916), receiving his first mention in Despatches.

While on a reconnaissance on April 22, 1916, he had the never-to-be-forgotten experience of serving from the Ypres-Zonnebeke Road the first gas attack in history (on the Gravenstafel Ridge) and its appalling results.

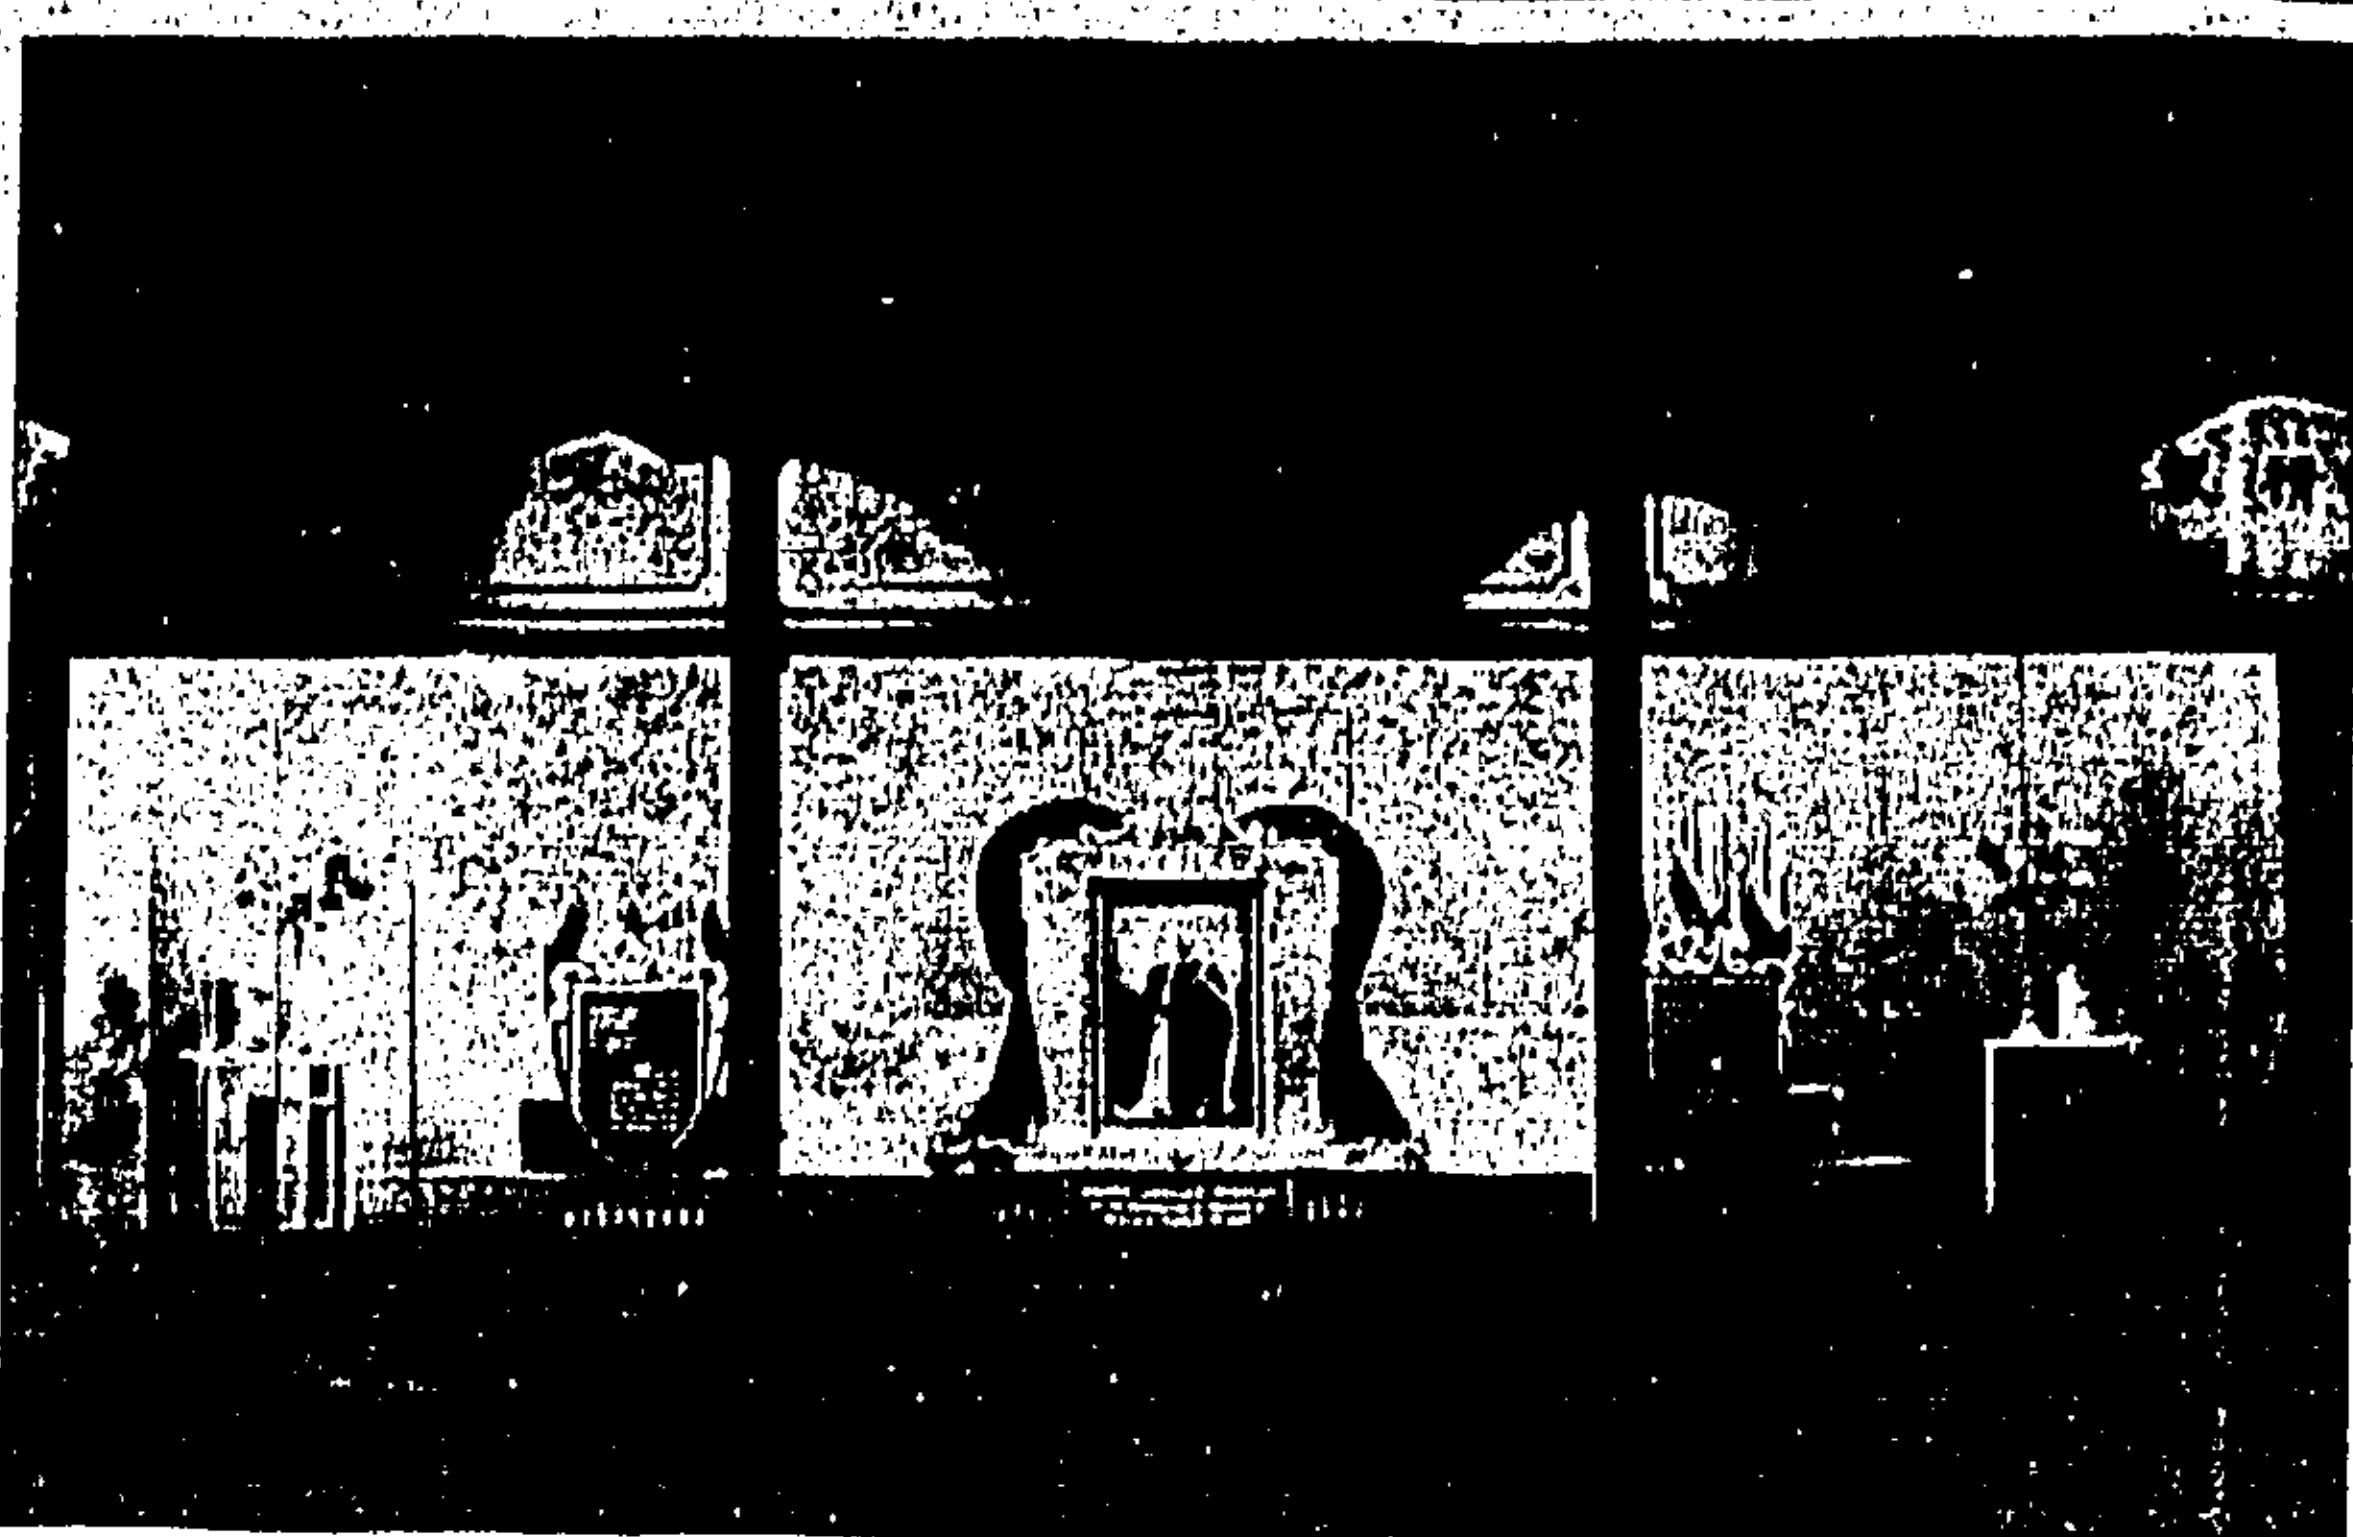

In 1916, he received his second mention in Despatches, and was awarded the D.S.O. In 1917, he commanded the 5th. Divisional Riding School (being awarded accelerated substantive promotion to Field Rank), and, after passing the Senior Officers Course at Aldershot, the 5th. Bn. The Royal North Lancs. Regt. at the Battle of Messines, and served with that Bn. at the Second Battle of Arras, 1918 (the Drocourt-Queant Line), the Battles of the Hindenburg Line (the Canal du Nord), and the Battle of Bourlon Wood, and the capture of Cambrai.

THIRD MENTION
In 1918, he commanded the 8th. Bn. The Scottish Rifles at the Battle of the Sambre (the Passage of the Sambre-Oise Canal), receiving his third mention in Despatches.

With the exception of being slightly gassed at the capture of Messines (whilst attached to the 3rd. Australian Division) Col. Eaves ended four years' infantry service on the Western Front without becoming a casualty.

On vacating command of this Battalion, he joined the 3rd. Lowland Infantry Brigade in the Army of the Rhine.

In 1919, he commanded the 18th. Bn. The Cameronians (Scottish Rifles) on the Rhine, and later in Ireland at the Curragh. From the Curragh he volunteered and was accepted for service with the White Russian Army in the Crimea, but, owing to a subsequent change in Government policy, he fortunately never arrived there. In 1921-1922, he served on the General Staff in Ireland as a Courts Martial Officer (G.S.O. 3rd grade) at the special request of the War Office. On leaving the Service in June, 1922, Col. Eaves became a member of Gray's Inn, and was called to the Bar in January, 1923.

Picture shows one of the displays in connection with the Silver Jubilee Window Display Competition arranged by the Sincere Company, Ltd. It is by the British American Tobacco Company.

Token Coins To Be Made Illegal

NEW LOCAL LAW DRAFTED

The Gazette contains the draft of an Ordinance to prevent the making, issuing and circulating of pieces of metal usually called tokens.

It is provided that no piece of metal or mixed metals, not being money, shall be made, issued or circulated in the Colony as a token for money, or as purporting to be the bearer or holder thereof, is entitled to demand any value denoted thereon, either by letters, words, figures, marks or otherwise, whether such value is to be paid or given in money, goods, fares or services, or in any manner whatsoever.

Every person who acts in contravention of this section will be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding $200.

The object of this Ordinance is to make it clear that the manufacture, issue and circulation in the Colony of pieces of metal, not being money, as tokens for money is prohibited.

The right to authorise the issue of metallic tokens as money or as the equivalent of money is a prerogative of the Crown recognised by common law, but now for the most part regulated by statute or Order in Council.

The private issue of tokens has long been forbidden in the United Kingdom and Statutes to that effect are now consolidated in section 5 of the Coinage Act, 1870 (33 & 34 Vict. c. 10). That Act is not in force in the Colony, but two Statutes it replaced, namely 52 Geo. 3, c. 157 and 57 Geo. 3, c. 46, are apparently in force by virtue of section 5 of Ordinance No. 3 of 1873. These Statutes made it an offence to issue or circulate pieces of metal usually called tokens.

PLAN TO CARE FOR LEPERS

powers conferred on the Governor in Council by section 8 (2) (b) of the Public Health (Quarantine and Prevention of Disease) Ordinance No. 12 of 1935 which is to be brought into force shortly by Proclamation. Under section 2 of that Ordinance leprosy is included in the definition of "disease."

Section 5 deals with segregation in cases where the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services deems it necessary. It is now realised that segregation is not essential in all cases of leprosy which by modern methods of treatment may be cured at an early stage and mitigated at all stages.

Section 6 provides that when lepers are detained in the settlements they shall not leave without the written permission of the officer in charge.

Section 7 controls alien leper immigration, while Section 8 deals with the appointment of Justices of the Peace as visitors of leper settlements.

RED ARMY ATTACKS SZECHUEN

OPPOSED BY STRONG GOVERNMENT FORCE

RAPID EXODUS FROM YUNNAN

(Special to "Telegraph")

Chungking, May 11.
Following a dramatic forced march through Yunnan, from Kweichow, the Communist armies have attempted to enter Szechuen. They crossed the Kinghsiang River at Tungun but there met opposition from a strong force, commanded by General Liao Wen-hui.

There are no detailed reports of the result of the engagements.

The First Route Army continues to harry the Communists, who are led by Hsu Shang-chien, a wily and able officer.

The Government troops are reported to have captured Chinko. —United Press.

KING AND QUEEN GO VISITING

SURPRISE TRIPS TO SEE DECORATIONS

London, May 10.
The King and Queen paid a surprise visit this morning to Lambeth, Battersea and Wandsworth to see the Jubilee decorations in some of the poorer districts south of the river.

News of the visit spread rapidly, and Their Majesties, who travelled unobtrusively in a closed car, did not disguise their pleasure at the warm and spontaneous welcome they received from people who thronged close round the car as it proceeded at walking pace.

During the afternoon, the Queen drove through the West End of London.

Mr. Lloyd George, Father of the House of Commons, will travel with the Prince of Wales to Cardiff to-morrow, when, as the King's representative, the Prince will attend the Welsh Jubilee celebrations. —British Wireless.

CHICAGO WHEAT

Chicago, May 10.
Wheat prices were downward on the basis of private estimates that the spring acreage is larger. Also there are reports that the moisture conditions are improving. —United Press.

It is notified that the Far East Flying Training School, Ltd., Kai Tak Airport, has been provisionally approved by the Director of Air Services for the purpose of providing courses of training in instrument flying.

A tea dance will be held at the Bay Hotel on Sunday 4.30 p.m. There is a half hourly bus service during the afternoon.

The King's Exequat empowers Mr. Kosaku Midzuwawa to act as Consul General of Japan at Hongkong, having received His Majesty's signature.

His Excellency the Governor has approved the promotion of Second Lieutenant F. W. T. Ross to the rank of Lieutenant in the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps.

THE MID-LEVELS

ANNUAL MEETING OF ASSOCIATION

Complaints of noise in May Road and of the refusal of the Government to allow light cars along Bowen Road although both Government and military trucks enjoy that privilege, were voiced at the annual general meeting of the Mid-Levels Residents' Association, held in Messrs. Shewan Tomes and Co's board room yesterday afternoon.

Mr. A. L. Shields presided, and said, in part: You will have seen from the circulated report that in voicing the gratification of residents on the completion of the motor road to Magazine Gap, your Committee has expressed the hope that, as soon as funds permit we may see the logical completion of these facilities by a continuation to town via Queen's Gardens. The opening of the Magazine Gap section of the motor road has increased the traffic on the lower part of the road, which I think requires the attention of Government. Several of the corners require further improvement, particularly the western end of Bowen Road bridge at the entrance to the filter beds. There is barely room to pass at this point, if a car meets a truck going in the opposite direction at any speed. The Incoming Committee, I feel, should urge upon Government the necessity for a footpath for pedestrians from the top of Garden Road to the junction of Magazine Gap Road and May Road. The bends are dangerous and pedestrians must stand in the gutter to allow traffic to pass. It is particularly dangerous for coolies carrying loads.

A parking place and turning point is a matter of urgent necessity in Bowen Road. When ambulances for the Military Hospital and cars belonging to Bowen Road residents are parked on the bridge, traffic is very badly obstructed. Space appears to be available on the east side of the Peak Tramway and I consider that the making of a turning point is of considerable urgency.

I regret to say that many of us still have to grope our way home in darkness if out after midnight, because public lamps are extinguished at that hour. In this connection, I am indebted to one resident for the information that he has frequently observed that the lights along the Lugard Road are kept on all night. If he is here to-day I would like him to tell the meeting so, as it certainly seems extraordinary economy that a comparatively thickly populated rate-paying area like our own should be denied this often asked for service, whereas Lugard Road, which is off the beaten track is illuminated all night long and, so I am told, part of the day.

Children's Playground

Turning to the brighter side of the picture, I am glad to say that our efforts saw the inauguration last year of a children's playground at Queen's Gardens and, needless to say, it has proved very popular. Another site has recently been prepared near the junction between Magazine Gap and May Roads, and is eminently suitable for the purpose. However, I would like to suggest that the Automobile Association might arrange for the fixing of an appropriate road sign warning traffic of the proximity of children.

The report and accounts were adopted.

No discussion took place on the bus service, opinion being that it would serve no purpose until the circular route was prepared.

The following general committee was elected: Messrs. D. J. Fraser, Chairman, A. Branley, vice-Chairman, J. T. Bagram, W. J. Carroll, L. Dunbar, F. A. Howard, N. Lampard, T. A. Martin, H. H. Priestley, C. A. da Roza, A. L. Shields, and Dr. Li Shu-fan.

YORKSHIRE CRICKET TALENT

COUNTY REMAINS FORMIDABLE

NO LACK OF NEW PLAYERS

Yorkshire, champions three times before Lancashire displaced them, revealed further wealth of talent when Sutcliffe, Leyland, Verity, Bowes and occasionally Mitchell (A.) were wanted elsewhere. So careful is their county organisation that new players never seem to be lacking.

If Sutcliffe's powers have shown signs of waning, Mitchell, his natural successor as opening batsman, has fine ability; he can wear down the attack, and then score fluently.

Barber and Leyland, in their different styles, supply much batting skill. Davidson and Turner have earned their positions in the County's best side. A. B. Sellers, the captain, last season batted better than ever before. Much will be looked for in Hutton, a fine stylist both in attack and defence.

Yorkshire's bowling has always been excellent; Bowes, Verity, Maccauley, and Smiles, under all conditions of weather and wicket, are difficult to equal. Nor could they wish for better support than that accorded by Wood at the wicket, Mitchell and Sellers, close in, Leyland, Barber, and Turner.

Some idea of the potential strength of Yorkshire cricket may be gathered from the fact that besides 17 (Continued on Previous Column).

FOOTBALL FINALE TO-DAY

CHANGES IN REST ELEVEN

GOSANO BROTHERS UNAVAILABLE

Several changes have had to be made in the line-up of the Rest team for to-day's grand finale in the Hongkong football league championship owing to players withdrawing from the side.

Neither of the Gosano brothers has accepted the invitation to represent the "Rest" against South China "A" while Rodger and Bliss have also signified their inability to play.

Reserves will have to be called upon to fill the vacancies but there is no doubt that the team which eventually meets the Chinese will be a formidable one and one capable of beating the league champions.

The Gosano brothers will be replaced by the Pile brothers. Chris will take up A.V. Gosano's position at left back and Tom Pile will play at outside right. Rodger will be replaced by Rowlands and A. S. Bliss will have one of the reserves already selected, as his deputy.

TOURISTS WIN EASILY

INNINGS VICTORY RECORDED

CHAMPIONSHIP FIXTURES

London, May 10. The South African cricketers continue their match winning form and in the fixture just brought to a close they beat Cambridge University by an innings and forty runs.

The tourists displayed brilliant form, particularly their captain, H. F. Wade, who contributed 161 runs to their total of 485. Wade is a sound free-scoring batsman, with a good range of strokes. He first played for Natal against Lord Tennyson's team in 1924 when he was 18 years of age. He has spent two seasons playing in Yorkshire League cricket.

Another South African to distinguish himself was E. A. Rowan, who made 103 runs. Rowan comes from Transvaal and is a steady and attractive batsman who knows how to stay at the wickets.

The tourists made their score of 485 in reply to a total of 253 registered by Cambridge, who in their second innings were dismissed for 192 runs.

MORE HEAVY SCORING
There was some heavy scoring in the match between Sussex and Worcestershire at Worcester where the visitors compiled 537 runs for six wickets declared in response to Worcestershire's score of 291. For Sussex, J. Parks topped the scoring with 118 runs while H. Parks made 87 not out and Melville 77 and Cook 96. C. F. Walters had contributed 113 runs for Worcestershire in their first innings and Bull 79. In their second attempt Worcestershire made 160, thus losing by an innings and 86 runs.

C. C. Dacre was in scoring mood for Gloucestershire in their match against Oxford University at Oxford where the county side rattled up 460 runs, of which Dacre was responsible for 108. Oxford made 386 in reply. R. Kimpton topped 160 before dismissal. Gloucestershire declared their second innings at 240 for seven but at the close of play the match had to be left drawn, the University having lost but five wickets for 126 runs.

Glamorgan brought off another creditable feat against Yorkshire whom they beat on first innings at Nenth. The Welshmen made 270 runs, in the first visit to the wickets although Bowes was in dangerous form and secured seven of the wickets for 89. Smart was the chief obstacle to the Yorkshire bowlers, scoring 91 before leaving. Yorkshire failed badly against their hosts, losing their last wicket with 262 runs on the board. Her-

PROSPECTS FOR SEASON

WARWICKSHIRE'S CRICKETERS

R. E. S. Wyatt is again captaining Warwickshire and he made such a rapid recovery from his fractured jaw that he was able to participate in the opening matches of the season.

Among those who are expected to play regularly are P. Cranmer, the international Rugby footballer, Dolly, and Hayhurst. Cranmer is certain to be a great attraction. He is a glorious natural hitter, only needing more experience, and a fine fielder.

Dolly is also a forcing batsman of much promise, having done very well for Berkshire in 1932 and 1933. Malley, who saw him last year, thinks highly of him.

Hayhurst, who has fine physique, is a fastish bowler and good bat, who might become a very useful all-rounder.

The hunt of the bowling will be borne again by Paine, Hollies, and Mayer. Bates, Kilner, Santall, Croom, Duckingham, and Smart—the last two wicket-keepers—will be available. Young players, in reserve, will be Collins, a left-hand hard-hitting batsman, Ord, Hill, and Wilnot.

It is hoped that the Rev. J. H. Parsons and G. D. Kemp-Welch will be able to play from time to time.

Santall takes his benefit at Edgbaston in the Sussex match towards the end of July.

Last month Mr. R. V. Ryder, the secretary and manager, completed 40 years of service to the club, a period covering Warwickshire's entire history as a team in the County Championship. A great record, and Warwickshire cricket owes much to his skill as organiser and manager.

GREAT SHOTS IN GOLF DESCRIBED

MEHLHORN GAMBLES ON PUTT

WAGERS $5,200 & COLLECTS

PLAYER EXPLAINS SECRET

Bill Mehlhorn parlayed a brassie shot and a putt into $5,200 and $1,000 gold plate in 1930. His feat is one of the classics of golf.

Coming up to the long par five No. 17 hole during the La Gorce championship at Miami Beach, Mehlhorn was trailing the sparkling Horton Smith by one stroke. Horton, who was playing ahead of Bill, had scored a par five on this hole.

Mehlhorn had little hope of picking up a stroke here. No one was getting across the bunkers guarding the green in two shots. They were relying on three to get home. Birdies on this hole were scored with good putting rather than with long play through the fairway.

After a long, well-hit drive, the Louisville colonel decided to gamble. If he failed to carry the bunkers on his second, he still could reach the green with his third shot. If he carried the obstacle, a good approach would put him in position to score a birdie.

Selecting a brassie, Bill hit the pellet squarely on the nose. The shot not only surprised and thrilled the gallery, but Bill as well. The ball rose quickly, sailed over the bunker, rolled onto the green, and came to rest six feet from the pin.

Now was no time to play safe, he decided. Two putts would tie Smith—but here was a chance to pass the leader. Lining up the six-footer, he putted the ball toward the cup and in it fell for an eagle three that put him one up on Smith, his margin of victory.

Mehlhorn says that a duffer's main fault in playing a brassie is his inability to get the ball into the air.

"You must hit through the ball when playing this shot," explains Wild Bill. "The club meets the ball at the lowest point in the arc of the downswing. I play the shot with an open stance, and have the clubhead slightly open."

SURPRISE FOR BOWLERS ON SATURDAY

INDIAN R.C. WIN NARROWLY
FROM SENIOR CLUB

(By "Sax")

It was with the greatest surprise that followers of lawn bowls learned of the defeat, on Saturday, of the Kowloon Bowling Green Club at the hands of the newly promoted Indian R.C. side. The unexpected has often happened in the games of bowls but it sometime since there has been such a big upset as that which occurred at Sookunpoo.

The Kowloon bowlers must have underrated their opponents to some extent but their defeat was certainly not due to their over-confidence as to their inability to "find the green" as I had predicted. During the early stages of the game the visitors were completely out-played and it seemed that they were in for a severe trouncing.

The Indians settled down immediately they started the match whereas the Peninsula players were finding the ditch on numerous occasions. At one time the visitors were as many as twenty shots down. This was before tea and before they had been able to adapt themselves to the strange green, a green they had never before played on as this was the first time that the Indians had figured in a First Division match.

Just before the tea interval a few big scores were registered by the Kowloon side and the margin of points in favour of the hosts was considerably decreased but they were unable to save the game which they had lost at the start.

Future visitors to the Indian R. C. green will not now go there with the idea of playing a Second Division team but will show last year's Junior Champions every respect.

GLORIOUS OPENING

The feat of the Indian R. C. recalls a somewhat similar effort made by the Club de Recreo when they gained promotion to the First Division in 1928. The following season the Portuguese made such a determined attempt to show that they were as good as many of the senior clubs that they all but won the Senior Championship at the first time of asking.

I am not suggesting that the Indian R. C. will finish at the top this season but they should be able to hold their own in the Senior League. On their own green the Sookunpoo side will prove hard opponents to beat but I have not the same confidence in their capabilities away from home.

It is when playing on their opponents' greens that they will not show up as prominently as when on their own green.

However, there is no saying to what heights they will climb and bowlers generally will congratulate them on their glorious opening in the Senior Division.

Following their run-away victory against the Civil Service C. C. on the opening day, the Craighower C. C. "A" last week won against the Kowloon Docks at Hok Un by a comfortable margin and together with the Club de Recreo, they are the only teams to have won both matches in the Senior Division. The Portuguese side have not been as convincing in their victories as the Happy Valley side but they have quite a strong team and should finish well up in the league.

To-day they receive the Kowloon Bowling Green Club and if they can maintain their present form they should win against the Parent Club. The Bowling Green are not nearly as formidable away as at home whereas the Portuguese hold an enormous advantage when playing on their own green.

OPEN CHAMPIONSHIPS

A start has been made in the Open Championships and although some of the results of the first day's competition were not altogether as expected there was nothing to suggest that any pair has entered the second round against a stronger combination. The defeat of R. P. Phillips and N. J. Bebbington by M. Y. Adal and A. R. Dallah merely goes to show that the Indian R. C. members are now capable of holding their own against players from other Senior Clubs, either collectively or individually.

F. J. Jones and A. W. Grimmitz were in deadly form and won easily from W. McLeod and G. Perkins. As present holders of the title they will naturally be strongly favoured to repeat.

GREAT FOOTBALL CHANGES

TO PLAY BIGGER
PART

COACHING SYSTEM
FOR BOYS

(By Frank M. Carruthers.)

It is too early to record the result of the questionnaire which the League management committee have addressed to the clubs in regard to the proposal to put the control of matches in the hands of two referees, but I do not anticipate serious opposition to it.

It has been put forward unanimously by those in the best position to judge the needs of the game, and their views are bound to carry great weight.

In considering it I would urge the clubs to give weight to the views of players who took part in the trial at West Bromwich. "It is going to cut out a lot of the 'rough stuff,'" they told me. "With the referees so close up there are bound to be fewer infringements."

This, in my opinion, is the most important point of all. A vote for two referees is a vote for clean play.

GREAT CHANGES COMING

Football, I believe, is on the eve of great changes. They are inevitable. In the case of the Football Association I think they have already begun. They are going to play a bigger part than ever in the national life.

The first indication of this was the launching of the coaching scheme for schoolboys. In its initial stages it has been a big success, and as it is developed, not simply with the object of making footballers for the League clubs, as was the original fear, but to add to the pleasure and physical well-being of the boys. It will be accepted as a work of great importance.

Then we have seen the association give a lead to the commemoration of the King's Jubilee by sportsmen.

In all these activities one can see the driving force and enthusiasm of Mr. Stanley Rous, the new secretary. Sir Frederick Wall, who retired a year ago and who celebrated his 77th birthday yesterday, is watching his work with admiration.

Sir Frederick received many messages of congratulation from all parts of the world, including one from Lord Derby, and I know that he looks back on his work not only with satisfaction but with the hope that the association will play an even bigger part.

NEW TRAINING METHODS

Mr. Rous has another new scheme on the stocks. This is what may be called a summer school for club trainers. He hopes that it will be possible to get the men from the clubs together during the closed season in order that they may learn new and more enlightened training methods to make the work of the players less monotonous.

Mr. Rous told me he recently watched a number of professional sprinting, as I suppose they had done two or three times a week since the start of the season. Then they changed from their spiked shoes to their football boots and played with

A NEW CRICKET STORY

"Remarkable Situation"
In South Africa

A Reuter message from Cape Town tells of a "remarkable situation" in cricket. The fielding side, Western Province, appealed against the light in their match with Technical College (winner of the Senior Championship). Technical College had scored 353 for 5 wickets, when the appeal was made. The bowlers evidently, either could not or would not see the wickets; the fieldsmen, assailed by a tornado of drives, hooks, and cuts, painfully rapped on the shins, chasing balls (that were not, after all, a reality) into the gloom, wearied of the unequal contest, struck work.

Meanwhile, the batsmen, K. Locke (114 not out) and G. Napier (181 not out), were "seeing the ball well." Delightful phrase.

And so it was left to the umpires, who are "the sole judges" of the weather, and the light for play. Doubtless, they had become more than targets, admirations of orators, voiceless chopping-blocks for the random and almost invisible blow; so they upheld the appeal.

Next morning Western Province resumed their attack in daylight, and fared little better; but at least they knew who was Locke and who Napier.

The Editor,

Sir—I am a young Canadian very interested in postage stamps, but I cannot get any from Hongkong. I am therefore writing to you in the hope that I may get into touch with some pen pals who would care to write to me and exchange stamps—my country's and others for theirs.

I sincerely hope you will be able to do this for me, and, if so, I shall be very grateful to you.

the ball.
"Have you tried this?" asked Mr. Rous. "Kick the ball as high as you can, race after it, and trap it as it bounces."

At once every man wanted to try the trick and they did not find it easy. At once, too, it gave them a new interest and I think it will be seen that for training purposes it combined sprinting—quickness off the mark, which is so important—and also some ball play.

It is such variations of training that Mr. Rous is anxious to see introduced, and I shall be surprised if all clubs do not support the school which he would like to see started.

SEQUEL TO AFFRAY ON TAI SHAN

INQUEST INTO DEATH OF MAN COMMENCED

There was a sequel to the fight which took place on the Canton steamer Tai Shan in the course of its journey to Hongkong on the afternoon of May 4, when a Coroner's Inquest was conducted by Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon, into the death of a 30-year-old Chinese male, Mo Chi-ping, who was involved in the melee. The hearing of the evidence was adjourned to Monday afternoon.

The jury comprised of Messrs. H. A. de Figueiredo (foreman), Ho Tai-yung, and Lo Pun-wai.

Mr. T. Murphy, Assistant Director of Criminal Investigation, appeared on behalf of the police, while Mr. M. K. Lo kept a watching brief on behalf of Kong Yu, a storekeeper and his five sons, who are being detained by the police as witnesses. Mr. C. C. Kwan also kept a watching brief on behalf of other witnesses.

Dr. K. H. Uttley, Government Medical Officer, said there was a small bruise near the left eye.

Internally there was no sign of disease except an enlarged spleen, but on the leg was a soft tumour, composed of blood and blood clot. A piece of this blood clot was carried into the lung and caused death.

The wound was over a year old, possibly many years.

An ordinary assault or what might be called a "scrap," without a particularly heavy blow, would be sufficient to dislodge such a clot.

In answer to Mr. Lo witness stated that a slight pressure or an accidental blow would also be sufficient to dislodge the clot. The two injuries in the vicinity of the eye was in no way, medically, connected with the man's death.

Report to Captain
Captain L. W. Thompson, the master of the Tai Shan, said that on the voyage from Canton to Hongkong on May 4, there was an unusually large number of passengers on board the Tai Shan. About 6 p.m. a report was made to witness, and on the third class deck he found a man lying on the deck. Water was poured over his head, and he was moved to the open air. Later the Chief Officer reported that the man was dead, so witness wirelessly the police in Hongkong.

A man named Liu Pang identified two fruit-sellers who were handcuffed and handed over to the police. Witness recognised Chu Wing as one of the men, but could not identify the other, Kong Yiu.

"Murder, Murder"
F. P. D'En, the purser of the Tai Shan, stated that at 6 p.m. witness heard shouts of "Murder, murder" in Chinese (Tai see yan). He went to the main deck, where he saw a man lying on the deck dead.

Sin Wing-kwong, aged 50, a carpenter, stated that he was coming to Hongkong with the Tai Shan to see the Jubilee celebrations. Witness had known deceased, who reared pigs and poultry at Tungshan for several months.

Struck With Bottle
Witness, deceased and two other friends were sitting down together, when a fruit-seller walked past and trod on deceased's left foot. Mo brushed the man's leg aside, and the man said, "Why did you push me?" Deceased replied, "Who pushed you? You trod on my leg." The man then kicked deceased, who got up and asked why he had been kicked.

Eventually the two men came to blows, and several men came up and also assaulted deceased. Witness was struck so he drew back.

One of the men struck deceased with a bottle in the region of the stomach. He appeared to be afraid and asked the men not to assault him but two or three men struck him with their fists, and he sank to the ground, gasped and died.

Witness then shouted out Tai see yan, and went up to find the purser to whom he made a report, and who in turn reported to the Captain.

When deceased was being assaulted by eight men, witness attempted to intervene, but was struck so he got out of the way. During and after the fight, witness did not see the other two friends. Nobody, except witness, made any attempt to help deceased. When deceased was kicked he was squinting down.

Questioned by Mr. Murphy, witness stated that just at the end of the fight before the man died, witness saw a fat man strike deceased on both temples.

Six men were then brought into court and witness recognised Chu Shing as being that man.

Witness added that the fight lasted about ten minutes.

Hearing was then adjourned to Monday afternoon.

WOMAN LOSES 28 lbs.

Trips Upstairs Like a 2-Year-Old

A woman writes:—"Three months ago, after much argument, I was persuaded against my will to try Kruschen Salts to reduce my weight, which was 222 lbs. I had tried other things, but all to no avail. After three weeks of Kruschen I had lost 5 lbs. 4 ozs., and I felt five years younger. I really must say I feel a different woman. My age is 37 years. I have now lost 28 lbs. to date, and while before, to go upstairs was a great effort, now, as my husband says, I trip up like a two-year-old." (Mrs.) S. G. B.

Kruschen Salts keep the system free from encumbering waste matter. Unless this wastage is regularly expelled it will give rise to rheumatic and other body poisons. And Nature is liable to take the defensive measure of storing this poison-breeding material out of the way in the form of fatty tissue.

Unlike most salts, Kruschen is not merely a laxative. It is a combination of six salts which have a tonic influence upon every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of your body. It purifies the blood and creates new energy and vigour.

New profession these young ladies follow. As aircraft waitresses they have the world at their feet.

FOR THE GROWING CHILD

Some interesting facts

Klim has long been recognized by doctors as a particularly suitable milk for the baby or the growing child.

The special process used in making Klim greatly reduces the size of the butterfat globules and makes the curds fine and soft and easy for the baby to digest.

Recently three Japanese scientists have studied the digestibility of Klim and have stated in a scientific article that "Klim showed the highest apparent digestibility."

Found in Film on teeth... the germs of tooth decay!

Buried beneath an ever-forming film, this invisible enemy attacks enamel and destroys the part beneath. To fight decay, you must remove film every day.

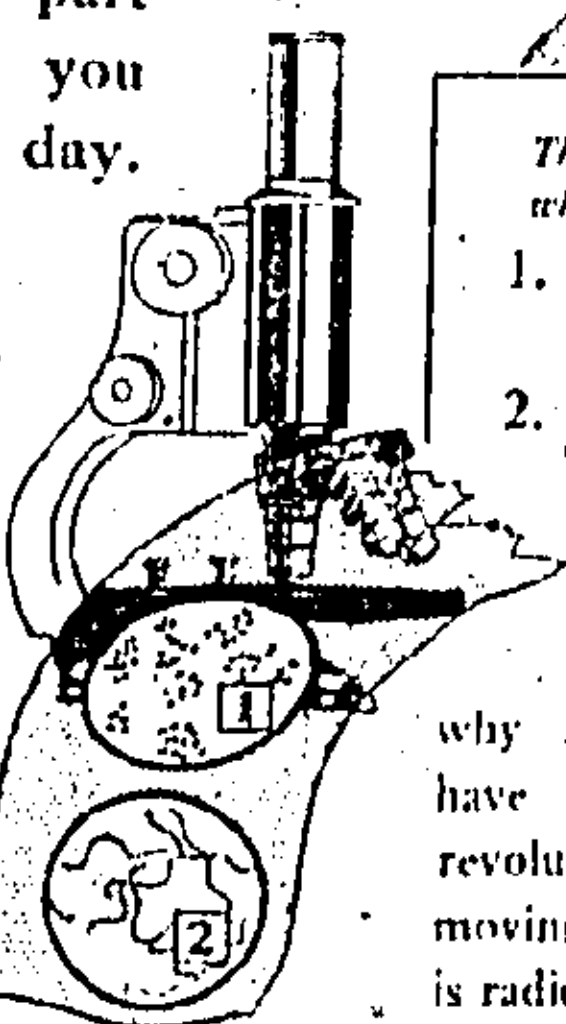

YOU don't need a microscope to pick out film-stained teeth. The naked eye can see them, for film is discolored.

But where the naked eye sees ugliness, the microscope sees danger. Magnify film 1,000 times and you will see living germs of many kinds.

Destroyers of lovely teeth

Lactobacilli are "germs of tooth decay." They feed on particles of food that cling to teeth. They give off acid that dissolves tooth enamel, then devour the part beneath. Finally the nerve is reached.

The film scraped from a single tooth may easily contain millions of living organisms. The only way science accepts of removing germs from teeth is to remove the protective film-coat in which they multiply. Film defies all ordinary ways of brushing. That's

This is what the scientist finds when he analyses film on teeth:

1. A species of Lactobacilli now held responsible for tooth decay by many authorities.
2. A species of Streptococci Pyogenes.

why Pepsodent laboratories have developed a new and revolutionary material for removing ugly, stubborn film. It is radically different from any found in other tooth pastes, different in composition and in action.

Some tooth pastes clean with materials so hard that they scratch enamel. The new material in Pepsodent is soft—twice as soft as the material commonly used in dentifrices. Yet it shows extraordinary power in removing film and giving brilliant polish.

This new cleansing and polishing material is contained in Pepsodent exclusively. Remember that when you are tempted to save money on cheap tooth pastes.

NOTES FROM THE THEATRES

Reminiscent of the costly and complicated research work which took place for fully a year before "Cavalcade" went into production, was the minute attention to every detail which marked preparation of "Mario Galante," the Fox Film production arriving at the King's Theatre on Sunday. The signing of Ketti Gallian as its star alone is worthy of comment. For an entire year Winfield Sheehan, who personally supervised the production, searched the world for a young actress with the necessary qualities to play "Mario Galante." When the Fox Film executive saw Miss Gallian's brilliant performance in "The Ace" on the London stage last year he realised his search had ended. Ketti, an idol of French theatre audiences, has to perfection, it is said, the looks, the temperament, and the ability required for the exacting role. The next move was to cast Spencer Tracy, one of the most virile actors in pictures today, as the American hero, opposite Miss Gallian. Tracy's box office practice has grown enormously during the last year. Each member of the strong supporting cast has been chosen with infinite care and after numerous tests.

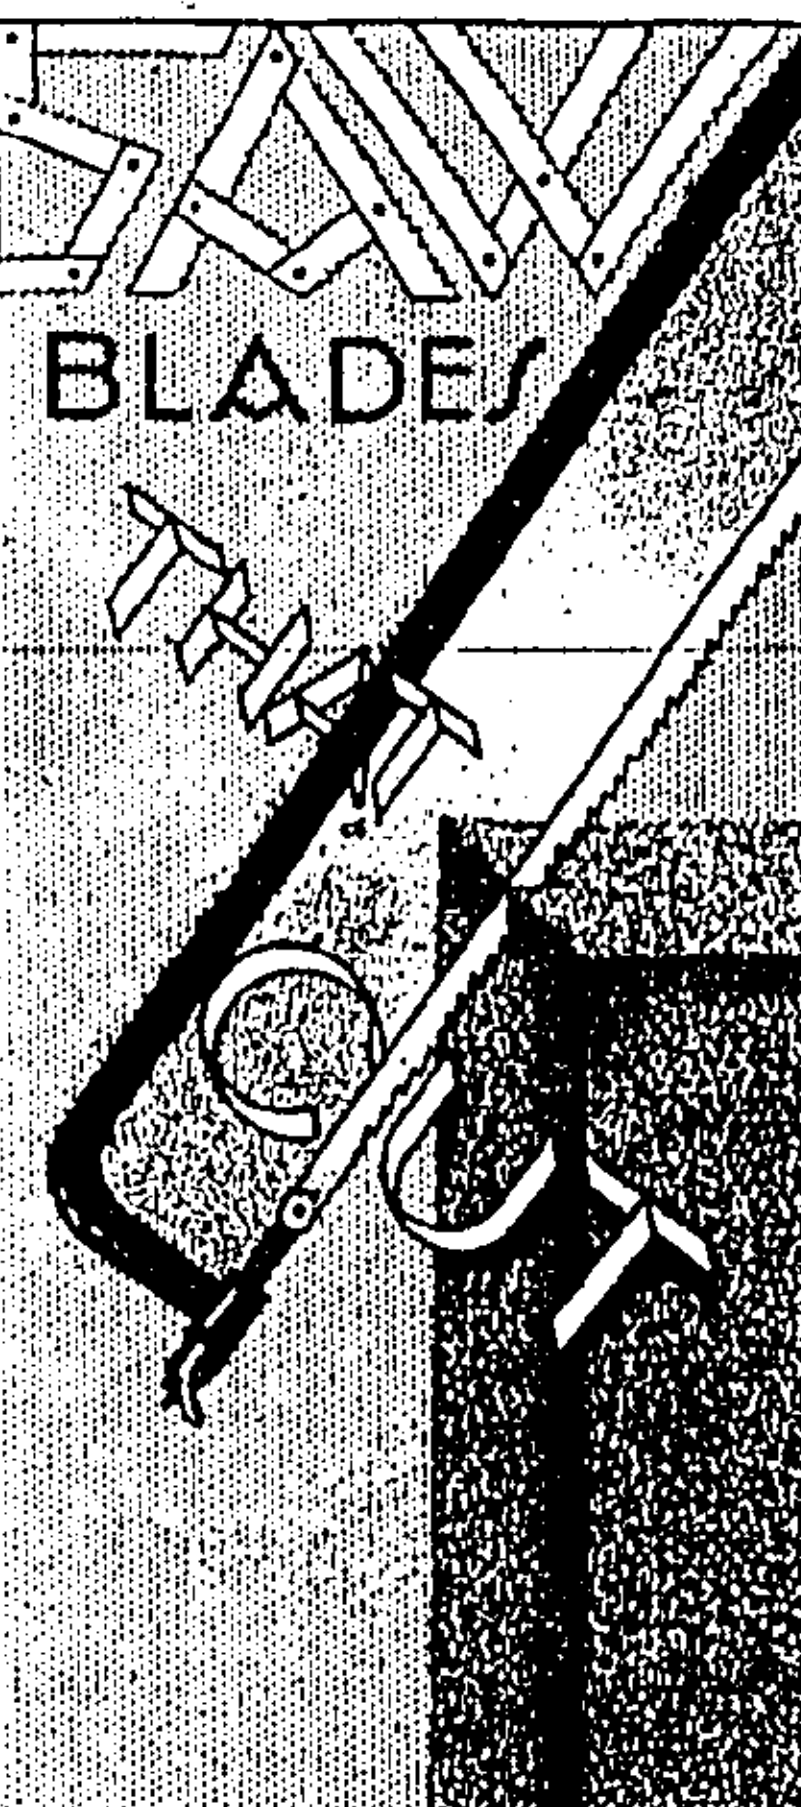

"Whirlpool"

The ever popular Jack Holt will be shortly seen at the Queen's Theatre in his latest Columbia picture, "Whirlpool," a dramatic story of a man who sought oblivion that his wife and child might find a new life. In the role of the man, who gives up his life that his family might not live under the stigma of disgrace, Jack Holt has the type of two-faced characterisation that he can play convincingly and vividly. His recent films were "When Strangers Marry," "The Woman I Stole," and "Master of Men." Supporting Holt is Jean Arthur who plays his daughter Sandra, a newspaper reporter, who unwittingly uncovers the secret of her father, the secret he had kept for twenty years. The juvenile romantic lead, the young reporter in love with Sandra is played by Donald Cook, who created outstanding characterisations in "The Ninth Guest," "Fog," "Fury of the Jungle," and "Jennie Gerhardt." Ella Lee, veteran of the films, whose screen appearances include innumerable successes, is cast as Helen Henderson, Holt's wife. Allen Jenkins, John Miljan, Ward Bond and Oscar Apfel, all well-known players, enact the supporting roles.

"One Night of Love"

Rarely has a star received such laudatory reviews as those occasioned by Grace Moore, in her starring vehicle for Columbia picture "One Night of Love."

COUGHS-COLDS 'FLU' and RHEUMATISM

REPORTS to hand indicate a wave of Coughs, Colds, and Influenza. Many people are away from business. How to prevent a serious attack and keep going is the question of the moment. The safe and sure method for quick relief is 'ASPRO'. It smashes up an attack in one night and nips developments in the bud. 'ASPRO' is equally effective for Sore Throat—Sciatica—Neuralgia—Rheumatism—and it speedily reduces feverish temperatures. Furthermore, 'ASPRO' is safe. It does not harm the heart or the stomach. 'ASPRO' Much Better Than Other Tablets

MOE, Victoria.

Dear Sirs:—
We use a lot of 'ASPRO' in our home and find it splendid for Headaches, Colds, and Influenza. My husband, who is a Returned Soldier, gets wonderful relief with 'ASPRO' from attacks of nerves. I really do not know what we would do without 'ASPRO', so you may be sure it is always in our house.

'ASPRO' is much better than other tablets which look like 'ASPRO', and they give such quick relief without upsetting the stomach or leaving behind any harmful after-effects.

I cannot praise 'ASPRO' too highly, because I have always found it can be relied upon to give relief quickly.

Yours faithfully,

Dear Sirs:—
I am writing to you to tell you how thankful I am to 'ASPRO'. It is the only thing that has done me any good. I had tried everything, and was in hospital for months, and came home no better. I could not walk or use my hands, and now I can write, and anyone can see how I can walk. I thank the Lord and your 'ASPRO' Tablets. I take one in the morning, and I am here for anyone to see what a good advertisement I am for you.

I am asked by everyone what I have taken, and tell them what 'ASPRO' has done for me. I would not be without it. Before I started to take 'ASPRO' Tablets I had to be lifted up and down, and anyone here can tell you what a different woman I am today.

"Night of Love" showing at the Oriental Theatre on Sunday and Monday. Not only the press, but fellow artists, outstanding actors and actresses, who are at the top of the profession, have joined in acclaiming Miss Moore's achievement. Such praise is noteworthy, since members of the acting coterie are their own severest critics. Work must pass a very high grade of excellence to warrant such raves. Some of the critiques follow:—"Thrilling, thrilling, de luxe! Grace Moore sings her way into your heart."—Modern Screen. "This marks a thrilling new epoch in sound picture"—Movie Mirror. "Grace Moore sings exquisitely and brings something new into pictures"—Silver Screen.

"Sweet Adeline"

The last of the highly successful stage landing men to adopt the screen is Donald Woods, who plays opposite Irene Dunne in Warner Bros. big musical, "Sweet Adeline," opening on Sunday at the Alhambra and Central Theatres. Young Woods, in addition to his New York experience, has played in resident stock companies all over the country, reaching that Mecca of all stock actors, Elitch's Gardens in Denver. Although only twenty-eight years old, he has a repertoire of 112 plays. In "Sweet Adeline" he has the role of a young musician enamoured of a singer. The picture is a mammoth musical spectacle based on the Broadway hit by Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein II, who also wrote the catchy music and lyrics. Others in the cast include Hugh Herbert, Ned Sparks, Joseph Cawthorn and Louis Calhern.

"Night Life of the Gods"

There is nothing about Alan Mowbray that suggests villainy. As a matter of fact, his sense of humour is renowned throughout Hollywood, where wit runs wild. It remained for that master of comedy, Lowell Sherman, to discover Mowbray's comedy talent. It was Sherman who selected Mowbray for the leading male role in his "Night Life of the Gods," Thorne Smith's uproarious lusty comedy now playing at the King's Theatre. In the three years he has

SERIAL STORY

The DARK BLOND

& CASLETON KENDRAKE

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

MILICENT GRAYES, secretary to GEORGE DRIMGOLD, finds her employer in his office dead, in a pool of blood, away from the door, in a room under an assumed name.

JARVIS HAPP, distinguished-looking stranger, recognizes Millicent and offers to help her. He sends her to a nearby police station where she is transformed into a blonde. HAPP takes her home, introducing her as his secretary. His only friend, ROBERT CAISO, a blond, and tells her a mysterious woman in black ermine has some power over his stepmother.

Millicent falls asleep. A noise wakes her and she finds a note with her door reading, "The woman in black ermine is here." Millicent dresses, sees the woman in black drive away, and follows in Robert CaISO's coupe, but runs out of gas. She is home, sees a light in the chauffeur's quarters, enters, and finds the woman in black. Millicent, frightened, returns to her own room. Some time later, she is again in the room, where Jarvis HAPP, gave her to audit, substituting another suitcase.

CHAPTER XV

Millicent tore at the fastenings of the suitcase with frenzied fingers, pulled back the lid and found that the interior was filled with a miscellaneous assortment of books, which, by no stretch of the imagination, could possibly have been books of account involving the business dealings of Jarvis HAPP and Richard Gentry.

It looked very much as though someone had hastily gathered a miscellaneous assortment of books, such as could be picked up at random. These books had been hurriedly thrust into the suitcase, apparently without regard for order, and when the suitcase had been picked up some of the books had fallen open. Millicent stared at the open suitcase. Evidently the substitution had been arranged so that she would not notice what had happened until she started work on the books. The two suitcases seemed to be approximately the same size and of the same general appearance. And the plan would have worked had she not happened to notice the straps which were on the original suitcase.

At first Millicent thought she would communicate with Jarvis HAPP at once. Then she decided that she would keep her own counsel. She was already mixed up in so many strange situations that she dared not make complete explanations. She was so utterly fatigued that her brain seemed numbed. She closed the suitcase, staggered wearily to bed, and this time found herself almost instantly overtaken by sleep. She had so many problems, so much to occupy her mind that there was literally nothing to worry about—rather, there was so much that she could not concentrate on any one problem.

She dropped off into dreamless slumber. Millicent was awakened by knuckles pounding upon the door. She opened her eyes to find that the clouds had disappeared. The sun was streaming in through the windows and the angle of the sunlight showed her that she had slept very late indeed. She bounded from bed, reaching for a robe.

"Who is it?" she asked. The voice which answered was unmistakably that of Jarvis HAPP. "Please open the door," he said in guarded tones.

Millicent gathered the robe around her, took a swift look at herself in the mirror, and could hardly refrain from giving an exclamation of surprise at the strange features which stared back at her. She remembered then, with a flood of conflicting emotions, the events of the last few days—the beauty which she had had, transformed from a blond into a brunette.

been in Hollywood, Mowbray has appeared in more than 45 pictures, which is a record few can equal. Last year he worked 42 weeks out of 52, and the year before he worked 38 weeks. Mowbray was born an Englishman, but has travelled far and wide over the world.

"Devil Dogs of the Air"

Every actor has his own mannerisms, his own style in love making on the screen. Among men there is the suave type—the man who can tenderly lift a dainty hand to his lips and kiss it and immediately there is tenderness in the woman. There is the rough and ready type—the man who can give a punch and a slap and a few high words, and make the gal like it. In that class, but only in the screen, is James Cagney, now appearing in the Cosmopolitan Production, "Devil Dogs of the Air," which released by Warner Bros. is showing at the Central Theatre to-day. Pat O'Brien, who is co-starred with Cagney in the picture, is never the same bending type, nor the hand kissing type nor does he resort to a spoke on his sweetheart's nose. His love making on the screen is found always in the tenderness of the touch of his hand on the cheek or hand. The feminine player opposite him, "Devil Dogs of the Air," is a comedy, romance with an entirely new twist, written by John Monk Saunders.

"Behold My Wife"

A stirring, well-made and interesting story of modern people, with an unusual plot, Paramount's "Behold My Wife," is now playing at the Queen's Theatre, and Sylvia Sydney, beautiful Paramount

She hurried to the door, turned the key and opened it.

Jarvis HAPP entered the room. "I thought," she said, "from the tone of your voice it was urgent, so I didn't stop to fix my hair or put any colour on my face."

"Thank you," he said, closing the door carefully, "but I didn't wish to be seen standing in the corridor in front of your door. The police will be here in a few minutes."

"The police?" Millicent asked, her eyes growing wide with alarm as she thought of all that might signify.

"For me?"

"No," he said, "your secret is safe. It's another matter. My chauffeur was murdered. The man who drove us out here in the limousine?"

She hadn't anticipated the news being broken to her in just this way. She stood for a second staring at HAPP and repeated the word, "Murdered?"

"Yes," he said, "murdered."

"We don't know."

"When was it done?"

"Some time this morning," Jarvis HAPP said, and his voice was filled with grim portents.

"I'm going to find out who did it," he said, "if it's the last act of my life. And when I find out who did it, I am going to be absolutely and utterly without mercy, regardless of who that person may be. Do you understand?"

She felt the colour changing in her face.

"Why," she said, "do you say that to me?"

"Because," he said grimly, "I want to definitely understand that I don't care who the person may be—I am going to be absolutely without mercy."

"I moved away from the door. His manner became more at ease.

"I wanted to tell you," he said, "that the police were going to be here. I didn't want you to get in a panic when you heard them drive up."

"How long ago was it?"

"Just a few minutes ago."

"How did it happen?"

"We all of us slept late this morning," he said, "it had been rather a trying day yesterday. I could well appreciate how utterly exhausted you were, and I, myself, had been under something of a strain."

She nodded, pleased that his understanding had saved her from the necessity of making excuses or explanations.

"However," HAPP said, "I wanted to go to town. I pressed the buzzer which summons my chauffeur. As you may have found out, Harry Felding was my own personal chauffeur. He enjoyed my unlimited confidence and served me no one but me."

"Usually it is but a few minutes after I press the buzzer before he is at the door with the car. This time, after some 15 minutes, I pressed the buzzer again, thinking that perhaps he had overslept. When he didn't answer, I started an investigation. The housekeeper told me he had not been in for breakfast, so I went to his room. He sleeps in a room over a shed in the back of the house. He was dead. He had been shot, and died almost instantly."

She nodded her head mechanically.

"There was," he said, "just one thing which may be considered as a very serious matter in its nature. I didn't want to trust it to the hands of the police."

She raised her eyebrows.

"Perhaps," he said, "you will understand what I mean when I show you the clew. It was something which I found in the bathroom."

She said slowly, "You mean in the bathroom of the chauffeur's quarters?"

"Yes," he said, and suddenly opened his clenched hand.

Crumpled into a ball in the palm of his hand was her handkerchief.

"Have you," he asked, "ever seen that before?"

She clenched her hands until they were tight little fists. Her senses seemed to reel. She was utterly incapable of speech but, nevertheless, she was spared the necessity of making an answer for, at that moment, there was the sound of a throbbing siren, the noise made by tires as a car slid around a corner at rapid speed.

Jarvis HAPP closed his fingers over the bit of linen and lay no more.

"Say nothing about this to anyone," he said, "I am going to identify it positively, and when I identify it, I am going to take drastic steps."

HAPP turned, noiselessly opened the door, looked out into the corridor, then nodded reassuringly to her, slipped out, closing the door behind him.

Millicent stood quivering.

Was it possible that HAPP didn't know that was her handkerchief?

Showing her the handkerchief was either a gesture of confidence on his part or else it was an attempt to shake her composure so that she would make a confession, but, if that had been his purpose, it had succeeded so admirably that he certainly would have followed up his advantage. As it was, he seemed to pay no attention whatever to her reactions.

The realization struck fear into Millicent GRAYES' very soul. The police would undoubtedly question her. The police would also want to know something of her past history. What could she tell them? How could she account for her whereabouts during the past few months without letting it appear that she was the secretary who had been working for George Drimgold? The secretary who had been dubbed "The Murder Girl" by the newspapers and for whom the police were now carrying on an intensive search.

Suddenly Millicent realised something else. Her clothes would undoubtedly show the wetting they had received the night before. The police would examine those clothes and would ask her where she had been.

She scooped up the clothes, ran with them to the closet, rumpled them and thrust them into a corner of the closet. The fur coat, she hardly knew what to do with. Finally, however, she decided that she dared do nothing, but left it on a hanger in the closet.

Suddenly a disquieting thought assailed her.

She thrust her hand down into the pocket of the fur coat.

The leather key container, with its keys suspended in neat assortment from the swivelled hooks, was in the pocket of the fur coat.

That would never do!

She pulled out the key container, intent upon hiding it. She had just withdrawn her hand from the pocket of the fur coat when she heard motion behind her.

The first glance from the corner of her eye chilled her blood with fear.

Robert CaISO stood in the door of the closet, leaning at her!

FRANCE'S HEROINE

JOAN OF ARC STILL REMEMBERED

DROVE OUT
BRITISH

Paris, May 10.
Five hundred and six years after she led an almost hopeless army against the British and broke their siege at Orleans, Joan of Arc's memory will be honoured in church services throughout France to-morrow.

At the Cathedral of Notre Dame, at Rouen, where she was burned at the stake, and at the scene of her victory at Orleans, thousands will pray for the repose
of the sainted French heroine.
The celebrations will continue on Sunday in commemoration of the heroism of the Maid of Orleans, whose inspiration at the head of the army broke the grip of the English on France and paved the way for the great French victories at Patay, the capture of Troyes and the fall of Chalons.

Although it was a king of France whose weakness in deserting her caused her to be sold out to the English by the Burgundians and burned at the stake, royalists
of France make a special holiday of the Fete de Jeanne d'Arc and have taken her as their particular heroine. Thus royalists throughout the country hold commemorative services for her and consider her as one of the symbols of the cause for which they are fighting.

It was Joan of Arc's burning desire to go farther than the weak
Charles VII dared, and re-capture Paris after she paved the way for Charles' coronation at Rheims that brought her downfall on May 24.
She had captured Compiègne, held by the forces of England and Burgundy, on May 13, and after going to Crepy for reinforcements
she returned there a few days later.

On May 24, while leading a sortie against Paris without the strength she needed, she was captured by the Burgundians and later sold to the English. Taken to Arras, she was tried at Rouen before a "court Christian" and condemned to be burned at the stake.

But her mission was accomplished, and by the enthusiasm she awoke in the French armies the English were driven from France.
She faced her death with the triumphant courage of a true martyr, declaring her revolutions were from God and she could die in peace. That her executioners were impressed and made uneasy

Mr. W. A. Mallinson, well-known English musician and song writer, who is to arrive in Hongkong on May 17 to conduct the Trinity College of Music practical examinations.

Conference In Balkans

FRANCE CLOSELY
WATCHING

Bucharest, May 10.
A conference of the signatories
of the Balkan Pact, Rumania, Yugo-Slavia, Greece and Turkey, was held to-day to discuss various economic questions. It is believed the conference will decide to oppose the restoration of the Hapsburgs to the throne of Austria and the re-arming of Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria, unless the Great Powers supply sufficient guarantees.

The Presence of M. Paul Boncour, the French statesman, is interpreted to mean that France is particularly interested in the outcome of the conference.

It is reported here that the French Legation will shortly be elevated to an Embassy and that King Carol will later visit Paris.
This is regarded as a blow to the pro-German movement.

It is hoped also that the conference will agree to establish a clearing system to supercede the monetary transfers until international exchange difficulties are overcome.—Reuter.

The arrangement made by the Helena May Institute for a lecture on the Pyramids has unavoidably been cancelled.

by her inspired strength and composure is shown by the fact that upon her death the English said,
"We have burned a saint."—United Press.

WALK-OUT
AVOIDED

St. Louis, May 10.
The Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants have resumed operations, re-employing 4,000 workers after a shut-down, since May 2, owing to the Toledo strike.

At the same time, prospects of an early settlement of the strike have brightened as negotiators have returned to Toledo to resume arbitration efforts.

Meanwhile, in Seattle, officials of the powerful maritime Federation of the Pacific Coast have called meetings of affiliated Unions with a view to voting proposals to settle the oil-tanker strike and thereby avoid a general marine walk-out on the entire Pacific Coast.—Reuter.

Yunnanfu, May 10.
For the first time General
Chiang Kai-shek, who arrived here by air from Kweiyang this afternoon, in company with his wife, is visiting this, the capital city of Yunnan.

The visit of the leader to Yunnan will undoubtedly have the effect of bringing the province into closer relationship with the Central Government and develop the loyalty of the provincials to the nation.—Central News.

DOLLAR AGAIN ADVANCES

BUT MARKET ON EASY SIDE

The Hongkong dollar rose a halfpenny on opening this morning, the official rate being 2s.
4½d.

The business rate was about 2s.
4½d. and 2s. 4.13/16d. The tendency of the market is somewhat easier.

In London, silver prices rose a halfpenny yesterday, the advance being chiefly due to Indian and speculative buying. The market was steady.
